THE GORILLA.

In Dickens' All the Year Round, we find the following description of this animal, which is said to be most closely allied, in structure, to the human form, of any of the brute creation:

"The gorilla Is of the average height of man, five feet six inches; his brain case is low and narrow, and as the fore part of the skull is high, and there is a very prominent ridge above the eyes, the top of the head is perfectly flat, and the brow, with its thick integument, forms a "scowling penthouse over the eyes.' Couple with this a deep lead-colored skin, much wrinkled, a prominent jaw, with the canine teeth (in the males) of huge size, a receding chin, and we have an exaggeration of the low st and most forbidding type of human physiognomy. The neck is short; the head pokes forward. The relative proportions of the body and limbs are nearer those of man, yet they are of more ungainly aspect than in any other of the brute kind. Long shapeless arms, thick and muscular, with scarce any diminution of size deserving the name of wrist (for at the smallest they are fourteen inches round, while a strong man's wrist is not above eight;) a wide, thick hand, the palm long, and the fingers short, swollen and gouty looking; capacious chest; broad shoulders; legs also thick and shapeless, destitute of calf, and very muscular, yet short; a handle-like foot, with a thumb to it, of huge dimension and portentous power of grasp.' No wonder the lion skulks before this monster, and even the elephant is baffled by his malicious cunning, activity and strength, The teeth indicate a vegetable diet, but the repast is sometimes varied with eggs; or a brood of young birds. The chief reason of his enmity to the elephant appears to be, not that it ever intentionally injures him, but merely that it shares his taste for certain favorite fruits. And when, from his watch-tower in the upper branches of a tree, he perceives the elephant helping himself to these delicacies, he steals along the bough, and striking its sensitive proboscis a violent blow with the club with which he is almost always armed, drives off the startled giant, trumpeting shrilly with rage and pain.

Towards the negroes, the gorilla seems to cherish an implacable hatred; he attacks them Sulphuric Acid..... quite unprovoked. If a party of blacks approach unconsciously within range of a tree haunted by one of these wood-demons -swinging rapidly down to the lower branches, he clutches with his thumbed foot, at the nearest of them; his green eyes flash with rage, his hair stands on end, and the skin above the eyes, drawn rapidly up and down, gives him a fiendish scowl. Sometimes, during their excursions in quest of ivory, in those gloomy forests, the natives will first discover the proximity of a gorilla by the mysterious disappearance of one of their companions. The brute, angling for him with its horrible foot, dropped from a tree, while his strong arms grasp it firmly, stretches down his huge hindhand, seizes the hepless wretch by the throat, draws him up into the boughs, and, as soon his struggles have ceased, drops him down, a strangled corpse.

"A tree is the gorilla's sleeping-place by night, his pleasant abode by day, and his castle of defence. From that coigne of advantage he waits his foe, should the latter be hardy, or foolhardy, enough to pursue. No full grown gorilla has ever been taken alive. A bold negro, the leader of an elephant expedition, was once offered a hundred dollars for a live gorilla. 'If you gave me the weight of yonder hill in gold, I could not do it,' he

"Nevetheless, he has his good qualities- in a domestic point of view; he is an amiable and exemplary husband and father, watching over his young family with affectionate solicitude, and exerting in their defence his utmost strength and ferocity. The mothers show that devotion to their young in times of danger, which is the most universal of in-

"The gorilla constructs himself a snug hammock out of the long, tough, slender stems of parasitic plants, and lines it with broad dried fronds of palms, or with long grass -a sort of bed surely not to be despised, swung in the leafy branches of a tree. By day he sits on a bough leaning his back against the trunk, owing to which habit, elderly gorillas become rather bald in those regions.

THE ACTRESS AND THE SKULL .- The following anecdote is extracted from "An Essay on the Science of Acting:" In the town of North Waltham, Norfolk, 1778, 'The Fair Penitent" was performed. In the last act, where Calista lays her hand upon the skull, a Mrs. Berry, who played the part, was seized with an involuntary shuddering, and fell on the stage. During the night her illness continued. On the following day, when sufficiently recovered to converse, she sent to the stage-keeper and anxiously inquired whence he procured the skull. He replied, "From the sexton;" who said it was the skull of one Norris, a player, "who twelve years before was buried in the church-That same Norris was her first hus band. She died in six weeks.

GUANO No. 1.

HAVE engaged in the Manipulation of GU ANOS, and am now ready to supply the Far-mers and Planters of the United States with an article which I consider superior to anything of the kind which has yet been produced, having an unusual amount I believe, of the valuable ingredients in this article. During my editorship of the "American Farmer," with which until within a few months, I have been connected for 25 years, I have most emphatically urged upon the Farmers and Planters that the mixture of the Ammoniacal Guano (Peruvian) with the Phosphatic (Mexican, Columbian, &c.,) was the best and chenpest application to most crops they could apply. For more general views upon this subject, I refer to the pages of the American Farmer; and also, to my cir-cular just issued (and which will be forwarded to any one desiring it) in which this view is ably sus-tained by Dr. Bickell, Analytical Chemist, of this

THE EXCELSIOR MANIPULATED GUANO WILL BE PUT UP IN BAGS AND MARKED S. Sands' Excelsior Manipulated Guano,

AND WILL CONTAIN 01 to 10 per cent. Ammonia and 45 to 50 per cent. Phosphates.

It is intended that imhall reach the highest of these standards, but some allowance is desired to be made, to meet any possible short-coming which by accident may be made. The Excelsior No. 1 I believe equal to the best Peruvian Guano on any crop to which that article is applied, and will surpass it as improvement to land. The Agricultural public have been much imposed upon by all sorts of professed fertifizers, but I have no hesitation in of professed fertilizers, but I have no acstation is saying, that I believe this compound will be found the "Ne Plus Ultra" of anything of the kind which has yet been produced; and with this confidence in its value, I have agreed to introduce it to the public.

CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purchasers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to them-selves exact copies of the Star Brands, long used and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights. Our new establishment, GIBSONTON MILLS, on the Monongahela River, gives us unequalled facilities for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from malted and kiln dried grain. Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to notice, the words Gresoston Mills and Jone Gibson, Sons & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a duty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person or persons who may hereafter copy or use our Brands.
